VILLA CATALFAMO, ORGANIC FARM

Villa Catalfamo is an organic farm that stretches along the sea, just a few kilometers from Cefalù.

It is set in an unspoiled Mediterranean countryside, where olive trees and citrus groves are cultivated, and is distinguished by a rich biodiversity — one of its most defining features.

Between the farm and the shoreline, a dune of agave and prickly pear cacti separates the two areas, creating a natural boundary.

One of the farm's unique features is the ancient 18th-century irrigation systems, which are still visible and well-preserved.

BAGLIO CATALFAMO, 18TH-CENTURY MINIMALISM

Baglio Catalfamo stands out for its essential, minimalist design — a striking contrast to the more baroque styles of its era. The layout evokes the charm of ancient Spanish or Arab villas, with a central courtyard that immediately creates a welcoming, familiar atmosphere.

The two-story structure strikes a perfect balance between formal reception areas and private spaces. It includes a garden and a spacious terrace, making it both a hub of hospitality and a place for quiet retreat. Over time, the baglio has become a living space and a center for growth, fostering generations rooted in rural values and the protection of ecosystems.
